FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt, Calm And Confident, Waits For Verdict of Americans

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7—President Roosevelt, the nation's chief executive through 12 years of crises in peace and war, today awaited in his Hudson valley home, calm and confident, for America's verdict on a fourth term in the White House.

Today, like millions of other fellow Americans, Mr. Roosevelt will go to the polls and cast his ballot in this war time election.

The President went to the polls in his role as a simple country squire and farmer of Dutchess county. He describes himself as a "grower of trees" when he signs the voting register in this little Dutch colonial village.

FRANCO PAINS FUEHRER WITH RENUNCIATION

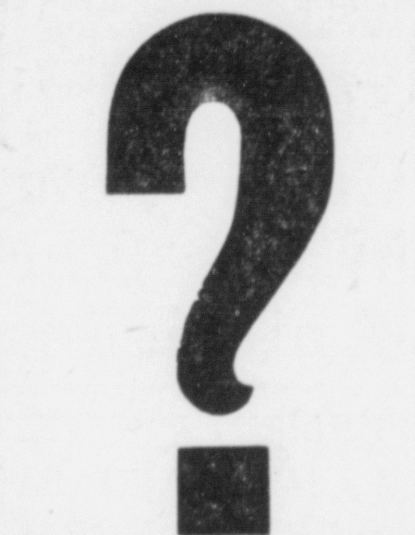

LONDON, Nov. 7—A dispatch from Geneva, Switzerland, to the London Daily Mail said today that the reported renunciation by Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain of Axis ideology had created a "painful impression" in Germany where the statement was viewed with great seriousness.

The dispatch added that an increasing number of American business agents were arriving in Spain and Portugal, offering everything from ships to typewriters and other wares at advantageous terms for buyers.

NATION STAGING GREATEST FEAT OF DEMOCRACY

Shrewdest Observers Say Five Eastern States Will Be Deciding Factors

FORECASTERS ALL AT SEA

White House Race Develops Into Contest Between Cities, Rural Areas

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—The American people are staging history's greatest feat of democracy today as fifty million voters participate in a national presidential election to determine whether Franklin D. Roosevelt or Thomas E. Dewey shall lead the nation to victory in two major wars and aid the world in lasting peace.

As the balloting progressed, the outcome was shrouded in doubt beneath the silence of millions of voters who refused to reveal their choices to friends or neighbors. There has been no election since 1916 where political forecasters were so much at sea.

Shrewdest observers believe the voters of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maryland will determine the election. All five states are classed as doubtful and claimed by both sides. They have 114 votes in the electoral college, where 226 are needed for victory. Both Roosevelt and Dewey are certain of at least 152 electoral votes in other sections, so the winner in the East should be the winner in the nation.

Final Appeals Sounded Both nominees made final appeals to the electorate late last night.

Mr. Roosevelt urged the nation to remember its goals—"to win the war and unite our fighting men with their families at the earliest moment, to see that all have honorable jobs and to create a world peace organization which will prevent this disaster from ever coming upon us again."

Dewey almost paraphrased this program, but declared his own election was necessary to achieve it. He said the great issue was a (Continued on Page Two)

1,000 POLICEMEN ASSIGNED TO TIMES SQUARE

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—More than 1,000 policemen were assigned today to patrol New York City's Times Square area tonight, where a record election night throng of a million persons was expected to gather.

As balloting began throughout the city, five law enforcement agencies including 3,500 special assistant attorneys general were represented at polling places to guard against fraudulent voting or intimidation of qualified voters

THOMAS E. DEWEY

Dewey Shuns Tradition To Deliver Final Hard Blow At Administration

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey left for New York City today to join millions of his fellow citizens in deciding, by their votes, whether he or President Roosevelt will guide the destinies of the nation during the next four years.

The Republican nominee, who voted shortly after noon in a polling place at 108 East 48th street, New York City, closed his campaign last night with the assertion he would have refused the nomination for president had he not believed, "with all my heart and soul," that change in administration will "help to shorten the war and assure quicker return to our fighting men."

In a last-minute thrust at the "commander-in-chief" issue raised by the Democrats, Gov. Dewey declared in a nationwide radio broadcast from the executive chamber that the argument against changing administrations during a great ordeal comes down, in the final analysis, to "the bald plea for the reelection—so long as he lives—of whoever happens to be president."

Gov. Dewey, with Mrs. Dewey, after casting his ballot retired to his suite in the Hotel Roosevelt to await the outcome of what many predict will be the closest presidential election in many years.

Meanwhile in Albany, the two Dewey boys, Thomas E. Jr., 12, and John Morton Dewey, 8, went to school as usual. They have been left in the care of Gov. Dewey's mother, Mrs. George M. Dewey, who came here from Owosso, Mich., yesterday, and of his cousin, Miss Katharine Dewey, who is a teacher in the Harvard school of engineering.

The Republican nominee departed from tradition in his final broadcast. Instead of devoting the 15-minute period to the usual election "get out and vote" plea, he made another two-fisted attack on the Roosevelt administration, apparently in the hope of turning the scales in some of the doubtful states.

Blasts Argument He charged that the argument against changing administrations during times of stress was made in President Roosevelt's behalf four years ago, when the nation was at peace, and that in other countries the same argument has been "the pretext upon which men originally voted into power by the people, have suspended popular government and maintained themselves indefinitely in power."

"In the final analysis," he added, "the whole argument comes down to a bald plea for the reelection—so (Continued on Page Two)

THREE MILLION OHIOANS TURN OUT TO VOTE

Most Bitterly Contested Campaign In State History At End

CLOSE COUNT FORECAST

Both Parties Make Claim Of Victory, Observers Say It Is Toss-Up

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—Some three million Ohioans, including about 175,000 in the armed forces are casting their ballots this near-perfect fall day in the most bitterly-contested election in Ohio's history.

The campaigning was all over; only the job of the precinct workers of both parties in getting out the vote remained. And so close in the race that the work of these humble party workers may determine whether Ohio's 25 electoral votes go into the Republican or Democratic column, and whether Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, Republican, or Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland, Democrat, will ascend to the governor's chair.

Both parties, of course, claimed that when the polls close tonight and the votes are counted, their party will emerge victorious. But impartial observers all call it the same way—a toss-up.

Undaunted by these veterans' views, Democrats claimed that President Roosevelt will carry Ohio in his bid for a fourth term by 125,000 and that Lausche, due to a huge plurality in his own Cuyahoga county, would carry the state by 175,000. Republicans for their part claim the state for the Dewey-Bricker presidential ticket by 200,000 and predict that Stewart will be elected by the same margin.

Nation Eyes State The eyes of the entire nation swung toward the state, for not since 1892 has the winning presidential candidate failed to carry Ohio.

With the gubernatorial race so close, all other places on the state ticket also were considered in doubt with the possible exception of State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht, Republican incumbent, who was generally conceded to be a sure winner.

Many congressional seats as well were uncertain, although the Democrats stand an excellent chance of strengthening by two or three seats their present poor showing of only three members in the state's 23-man congressional delegation. Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft, however, was generally believed a favorite over his Democratic challenger, former Lieut. Gov. William G. Pickrel of Dayton.

The legislature is almost certain to remain overwhelmingly Republican, particularly in view of the fact that Democrats in 19 counties have not even filed a candidate for the house. The Democrats, however, will gain strength particularly in Cleveland areas, where the Democratic vote is expected to be (Continued on Page Two)

WAR CHEST GOAL SURPASSED BY TOTAL OF $2,000

The Pickaway county Community War Chest campaign goal had been exceeded by $2,000 Tuesday, trustees of the drive reported.

At a meeting held Monday night in the high school final reports were heard from several districts. Jackson township, Willard M. Justus chairman, was the eighth township to go over the top, reporting more than $100 over the goal of $814. Solicitors were Mrs. Charles M. Niles, Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, Wayne Hoover, Smith Hulse, Mrs. Frank Bowling and Harry Kern.

Washington township expects to exceed its goal when complete returns are in, Chairman Wilson Dunkle reported.

Returns from various city and county organizations are still incomplete, because of the fact that many have not held meetings since the drive began.

Record Vote Being Cast In County

First Returns Expected To Be Available About 9 P. M. Tuesday

Voting was extremely heavy in Circleville and Pickaway county Tuesday and if the morning pace continues a record vote was in prospect.

Some precinct officials reported the morning vote was almost double the vote in other years. All city precincts reported a steady stream of persons anxious to cast their ballots.

Precinct 1-B had 131 votes at 11 a. m.; 1-D, 49; 2-A, 140; 3-A 139; and 4-B 95, all much heavier than usual. Circleville township had 95 at 11 a. m., about the usual amount.

Perfect weather was credited with bringing out many voters. After the mercury dropped to 22 degrees during the night a morning sun brought the thermometer up fast.

Election board officials predicted the vote would at least equal that of other presidential years. In 1940 12,569 persons voted in the presidential election, 6,895 for Roosevelt and 5,974 for Wilkie. In 1936 7,461 voted for Roosevelt and 4,798 for Landon, for a total vote of 12,259.

Returns are expected to start coming into the board of elections about 9 p. m. Tuesday. Precinct officials have been instructed to count the presidential votes first; then the state and county tickets, judicial ballot and special issues in that order.

Election returns may be obtained by calling the Herald office Tuesday night.

A Herald election extra will be published at 6 a. m. Wednesday. It will carry all information available at that time on the presidential, state and county races.

GUINEA TURNS INTO STEAK AND CAFE IS CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 7—The strange metamorphosis of guinea hens into thick, juicy sirloin steaks ceased today at the ritzy Cafe De Paris.

In fact, there were no rationed meats at all, no butter and no cheese. An it will stay that way, the Office of Price Administration ordered, until the restaurant has paid back 29,000 points to the OPA.

Evidence produced at a hearing before OPA Commissioner John R. Allen indicated that supplies coming into the restaurant billed as guinea hen appeared in due time on the tables as genuine steaks.

NAZI AGENTS GET BLAME FOR MOYNE KILLING

LONDON, Nov. 7—Lord Moyne, British resident minister in the Middle East who was assassinated yesterday, probably was murdered by Nazi agents, Lord Strabolgi declared today in an interview with the political writer for Reuters's News Agency today.

At the same time Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in a statement in the house of commons, said that a searching inquiry will be made into the "origin and association of these strangers to Egypt" who shot Lord Moyne in Cairo.

"We have as yet received no official information which fixes the authorship of the crime or gives us a clue to its motive," said the prime minister, who was dressed in mourning clothes in keeping with the unhappy occasion.

The prime minister disclosed that the "murderers" themselves had narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of Egyptians.

The government of Egypt declared that those responsible were not subjects of Egypt.

QUEEN'S FATHER DIES

LONDON, Nov. 7—The father of Britain's Queen Elizabeth, the 14th Earl of Strathmore and Lyon, died today. The Earl, 89 years old, was the son of an old Scots family descended from Lyon, thane of Glamis.

Titanic Battle Rages At Gates Of Budapest—Japanese Hard Hit

By International News Service Flames of battle crackled through the Hurtgen forest in Western Germany today as German troops struggled to prevent American forces from gaining possession of key positions on the plains before Cologne.

The Nazis brought up heavy artillery. The enemy barrages were heavier than anything encountered by an American force since D-day landings on the French coast.

One vicious counter-attack after another was hurled against the Yank troops. They were partly successful. The Americans were forced out of the town of Vossenack.

Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges rallied his First Army troops rapidly for a renewed drive. They flung the Nazi hordes back, taking back most of the lost ground and recapturing at least half of Vossenack.

Other elements of Hodges' army battled to oust the enemy from the town of Schmidt, just below Aachen in the Hurtgen forest area.

Yanks Advance Farther south on the western front, the American Sixth Army group, composed of the American Seventh and French First armies, pushed steadily ahead in the Baccarat area.

In the north, the campaign for Southwestern Holland neared conclusion. Allied forces held a line on the lower bank of the Maas river. It was an 80-mile front, roughly extending from the Reichswald forest in Germany to the westward beaches of Holland.

The British Second Army neared the outskirts of Willemstad, on the last escape route across the Maas from the Southwest Netherlands. A front dispatch said Willemstad had been captured.

Middleburg Taken On Walcheren island, guarding the mouth of the Scheldt estuary, British teamed with Canadians to capture the capital town of Middleburg and the village of Veere the only Nazi resistance left on the battle-shattered island was north-east of Domburg.

The Royal Air Force carried new blows to the Nazis from the west. British heavy bombers swooped out of the night on the Rhineland rail center at Koblenz, 57 miles south-east of Cologne. Smoke rose 10,000 feet skyward as a result of the explosive blasts. Other undisclosed targets also were hit.

On the Eastern front, a titanic battle raged at the gates of Budapest. Over the week-end, Russian troops were reported at Andrássy, less than five miles southeast of the Hungarian capital. The Soviet communique asserted that no substantial changes took place. German (Continued on Page Two)

TYPICAL BRIGHT FALL WEATHER ATTENDS VOTE

Typical bright fall weather, offering no extremes sufficiently great to affect the voting of an estimated fifty million American citizens prevailed generally today. "A fine autumn day," was the report from most of the East. Snow fell yesterday in northern New England, but only snow flurries were seen today in that sector. Pennsylvania and Ohio have good weather.

Some rain was reported in Indiana and Lower Michigan. Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Upper Michigan have had widespread rains but the weather was clear today.

Scattered showers were reported in Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, New Mexico, West Texas and South Dakota. Snow flurries and showers hit the mountain regions with clear weather for the west coast except Oregon and Western Washington.

JACOB DILLEY FOUND DEAD IN CORNFIELD

Jacob Dilley, 77, was found dead in a cornfield on his farm near Amanda Tuesday morning.

Mr. Dilley had gone into the field to work and apparently suffered a heart attack. He was found by a tenant on the farm about 8:30 a. m., when he went into the field to work with Mr. Dilley.

Surviving are his wife, Grace E.; a daughter, Alice Dilley, Lancaster, and a son, Leland, who is serving in the Southwest Pacific.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of Deffenbaugh's, are incomplete.

PARENTS OF DAUGHTER

Lieutenant and Mrs. Francis L. Webbe are parents of a 10-pound daughter born Monday at a hospital in Palm Springs, Cal. Lieut. Webbe, of the U. S. Navy, is stationed at a training unit near Palm Springs. Mrs. Webbe is the former Thelma Jean Porter, niece of Miss Nelle Anderson, of East Union street. Mrs. Bernard R. subject so close to their hearts and will vote to retain their present commander-in-chief. If this is true, Roosevelt will win the landslide victory.

There is a bare possibility that the men and women in the armed services may decide the election, if the results in key states are very close. Somewhere between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 ballots will be cast by the armed services.

However, for some reason, neither top Democrats nor Republicans expect the soldier vote to overturn the civilian count in any important state. There will be 411,000 soldier ballots in New York state, but here the politics say they will vote largely the way civilians do in their home areas, hence without much chance of determining the result unless the civilian result is below 50,000 for either candidate.

There will be big soldier votes in other states—225,000 in Pennsylvania, nearly 300,000 in Illinois, 165,000 in Michigan. But the politicians do not fear it unless the civilian margin falls below the 50,000 mark.

There are some small signs to indicate a Dewey landslide but even these signs do not solve the silent vote. As Emil Hurje, former analyst of the Democratic national committee and now associate publisher of Pathfinder magazine points out, there are 28 counties in the nation which have perfect voting records on all presidential elections since 1900. In all these counties, there is a distinct improvement in Republican strength, with from 4.67 to 16.7 per cent of Roosevelt's 1940 votes shifting to Dewey. Meanwhile Dewey has lost only a handful of Willie's 1940 votes.

Out in Iowa, there is a county, Decatur county—that has most closely reflected the national victory in every presidential contest since 1900. It went to Roosevelt four years ago by 444 votes out of a total of 7,432 cast. A recent poll shows it will go to Dewey this year by around 244 votes.

Down in Maryland, there is the perfect-record counties. It went to Roosevelt by 3,071 in 1940. Today, a practical political expert says it may go either way by 500. But this expert added—as do so many hundreds of others—"I can't be sure because so many people are keeping their mouths shut about the way they are going to vote."

On the other hand, the Democrats hope that the silent voters are deeply aroused by the war and its effect on the American home life, are unwilling to discuss a

Marshal Stalin issues a special order of the day that over-shadowed the ordinary communique. He asserted that Soviet territory has been cleared of the enemy, then said:

"The war now has been transplanted to the territory of Fascist Germany. The days of Hitler's bloody regime are counted."

On the Italian front, Polish troops captured several key hills in the Eighth Army's advance toward Forli. The villages of San Martino and Marsignano also were captured. Patrol activity occupied American Fifth Army forces pressing against Bologna.

Dramatic Conquest

Allied authorities in the Aegean came up with a dramatic account of improvised, but highly successful naval operations against the enemy. Using everything from fishing schooners to smaller craft, these "buccaneer" fleets destroyed 101,000 tons—all but 9,000 tons employed by the Germans at the peak of their Aegean operations. The "buccaneer" fleets operated in conjunction with submarines of the British, French, Polish, Greek and Dutch navies.

From the Pacific, General Douglas MacArthur reported his ground troops on Leyte island continued their advance toward Ormoc on the island's west coast. Remnants of the Japanese defense force are trapped there. Artillery and aviation are playing a heavy hand in the mopping up of Leyte.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, at Pearl Harbor, announced results of a surprise attack by carrier aircraft on Japanese shipping in Manila bay. The results: six warcraft were hit. These included a heavy cruiser that was burning and sinking, a light cruiser and three destroyers, all damaged, and a submarine chaser that was sunk. Several cargo ships were damaged. And some 200 enemy aircraft were destroyed.

Japan also reported its quota of daily war chatter. Tokyo radio announced two American B-29 bombers flew over the main Japanese home island of Honshu. Imperial aircraft raided the American-held Mariana islands of Saipan and Tinian. Neither of the Japanese reports was confirmed.

About 50 were at the meeting and enjoyed an excellent banquet at the close of the work.

Philos Lodge will assist in conferring the Knight Rank on a class of candidates at Ashville Wednesday night. A banquet will be served at 7 p. m. and work will be out on at 8 o'clock.

pected to approach landslide proportions. But downstate areas are almost solidly Republican.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court, a Democrat, is in considerable danger of losing his position to Republican Walter Wanamaker, who was barely defeated by Weygant six years ago. The other two supreme court judges, however—Edward S. Matthias and William L. Hart—are almost certain to retain their posts. Both are Republicans, but all are on the non-partisan judicial ballot.

Governor Bricker, who stepped from his gubernatorial chair to become the GOP vice-presidential candidate, brought the campaign to a formal close last night with an appeal to Ohioans to vote Republican on both state and national tickets to provide "a house cleaning in Washington" and to keep good government in Ohio.

ered one of the most solemn addresses of his campaign. He dwelt mainly upon the obligation the nation owes to its fighting men.

"... it is for us to make certain that we win for them—the living and the dead—a lasting peace," he said.

He brushed aside "partisan politics." He said "the political battle is finished."

"Our task now is to face the future as a militant and a united people—united here at home as well as on the battle fronts."

"Twice in 25 years our people have had to put on a brave, smiling front as they have suffered the anxiety and the agony of war."

"No one wants to endure that suffering again."

He warned that another world war might wipe out whole civilizations. He spoke of the devastation wrought in England by the robot bombs.

"Another war would be bound to bring even more devilish and powerful instruments of destruction to wipe out civilian populations," he said.

"No coastal defenses, however strong, could prevent these silent missiles of death, fired perhaps from planes or ships at sea, from crashing deep within the United States."

"This time, we must be certain that the peace-loving nations of the world band together in determination to outlaw and prevent war."

long as he lives—of whoever happens to be president.

Again promising that Republican victory will mean no change in military leadership, the governor said the hands of those leaders will be strengthened by "the end of civilian confusion in Washington." He said the people have been "sickened by the constant conflicts and shifting policies" of governmental agencies dealing with their daily lives.

"Everyone will agree," he added, "that we need improvement and need it badly."

Recalling General Eisenhower's statement that the war in Europe would be over in 1944 if everyone at home did his part, Gov. Dewey added:

"It is Mr. Roosevelt who now tells us that the war has still a long way to go. Plainly things have not been going in Washington as well as General Eisenhower expected and had a right to expect."

Looks To Future

"We stand today," Gov. Dewey concluded, "one of the strange promontories of human history, with the shadows of a dismal, stormy night behind us and the first gray streaks of dawn in the sky beyond us."

"For thirty years since 1914—nearly half the span of human life—we have seen a series of wars, revolutions, depressions—Communism, Fascism, Nazism, cruelty and suffering, and finally another conflagration that has engulfed the world. At home we have had 12 unhappy years of turmoil and dissension, of group conflicts and class strife, of divisions and hatreds and antagonisms."

"Half a generation has grown up knowing no other atmosphere. I believe our children—our whole country can again live in a world where peace, friendship and mutual respect abide. After we're through with the war and get our boys back home, then we must have a period of peace and calm within our own country. Only in that way can we build the unity and strength to meet our problems at home—to support our laborers abroad, for the peace of the world."

"Let us resolve to put aside these years of cynicism and of conflict. Let us resolve to put aside every antagonism, to throw off the nightmare of past years and breathe once more the atmosphere of courage and goodwill. Our people then can have a chance once more to build, to create and get ahead."

NOTICES OF SPECIAL ELECTION ARE MAILED

Notices of the special election to be held December 5 have been mailed to all Circleville residents who voted in the November, 1943 election.

Sent to the 527 voters were copies of the ordinance passed by council which orders appropriation of the Ohio Water Service company plant here and sample ballots.

Voters will ballot on whether or not the city should purchase the plant.

Amazing results shown in improving the Looks... boosting VITALITY!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue worry, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 10 to 25% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system... insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your troubles, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need.

SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic built sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 cc. sizes S.S.S. Co.

MRS. WATT FINDS NEW TYPE OF BITTERSWEET

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, North Court street, may be able to develop a new type of bittersweet from some unusual examples she found recently.

The bittersweet was found on Mrs. Paul Adkins' farm by Mrs. Watt. The seeds are on the outside of the berry. She showed a sample to the local garden club and none of the members had seen that kind before.

She sent a sample to Victor H. Ries, specialist at Ohio State University who said it was "very unusual" and suggested she plant some shoots. He said that if shoots about six inches long are planted before December 1 they should grow.

To make your clothes last as long as possible, look them over regularly. Reinforce weak places and mend small holes before they grow large.

Even After This Happens, American Women Can't Relax

Even after Hitler himself throws in the sponge, American women must not relax on saving used fats in their kitchens. Because it's the Japs, not the Germans, who still have those territories in the Pacific that used to supply us with one billion pounds a year! Our fat salvage job isn't done until we blast the Nips out.

In the meantime, every drop of used fats is urgently needed to help make the tons of munitions, medicines, synthetic rubber and soaps that are needed for final victory. So keep saving until V-J Day! Remember, the government gives you 2 free red points for every pound. This message has been approved by WFA and OPA and paid for by Industry.

AN EPOCHAL FIGHT
SLOWLY Americans begin to realize the importance and extent of the great Battle of the Philippines, which has destroyed the Japanese navy and opened the way to Japan. This is the beginning of the end of the cruel and ruthless Japanese dominion which has so greatly threatened the peace of the world and the safety and progress of modern life. It is probably true, as columnist Dorothy Thompson maintains, that this notable American victory furnishes material for whole volumes of comment.

It has cleared the seas of the world and given the free and enlightened nations mastery, in all probability for a new and more enlightened age. For full accomplishment the next vital step is the complete conquest of German militarism, and the reduction of the German nation to a status which will permanently curb her outlawry and bring her gradually into the ranks of genuinely civilized powers.

As for the Japanese, they too will be welcomed into the ranks of modern civilization when they have made amends for their present crimes and fitted themselves for cooperation with the leading nations. But that is likely to be a very slow and gradual process. For the Japs are far behind the other important powers in civilization and outlook.

PRESERVING THE PRAIRIE
TO be appreciated, the most common things have to get scarce. To the '49-er, struggling across the country after California gold, the prairie was monotonous, never-ending. The idea of preserving a sample for posterity would have seemed as ridiculous as bottling up a little fresh air to use later.
Prairie preservation has been achieved in Illinois. A strip of original Illinois prairie, half a mile long and 10 feet wide, uncultivated and bearing the type of vegetation which the early pioneer saw, has been found along the Illinois Central tracks in McLean County. The finder, Dr. Blanche McAvoy, who teaches biology at Illinois State Normal University, reports that the wild flowers are decidedly unusual including a species of gentian for which botanists have been scouring the country. The area will be made a "prairie preserve" and kept exactly as it is.
Other such stretches must exist along the old covered-wagon route. Amateur botanists might be on the lookout for them.

Inside WASHINGTON
Important Tasks Ahead For Returning Congress
Foresee Extension of Selective Service Act
Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—The nation's lawmakers will face an important file of unfinished business when they return to the capital Nov. 14. Between then and Jan. 3, when the 78th Congress expires, attempts will be made to pass legislation which would:
1—Authorize a one and one-half billion-dollar post-war road program.
2—Authorize a billion-dollar floor control program and a half-billion-dollar rivers and harbors program.
3—Direct the United States maritime commission to return the merchant marine to peace-time operation—another post-war measure.
4—Modernize the nation's foreign service.
5—Put Congress on record as favoring abrogation of the British White Paper restricting Jewish immigration to Palestine.
6—Bar further commercial use of the Red Cross name and symbol.
7—Extend for a third time the statute of limitations to permit future court-martial of Read Adm. Husband Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter Short, American commanders at Pearl Harbor when the Japs struck.
8—Create new ranks of admiral of the Navy and general of the Army.
9—Extend equal, uniform civil and legal rights to women by a constitutional amendment.
10—Provide that Japanese-mandated islands become permanent American possessions and that negotiations be opened with other countries toward acquiring additional islands for protective bases in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.
THE PROBLEM OF COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING is being debated in Congress in coming months, regardless of the outcome of presidential and congressional elections. The reason is that primary features of the selective service act

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—During the campaign, Ann Sheridan, having returned from touring the war camps in India and Burma, wired Warner Brothers in Hollywood, with whom she has a long-term contract, asking if she could suspend her contract for about six weeks in order to do some campaigning for Governor Dewey. She added that she knew Warner Brothers were for Roosevelt, but she wanted to do some work on the other side.

To this Harry Warner wired back, telling her to take the time off she wanted and adding:
"Isn't this a wonderful country where you can be for Dewey, I can be for Roosevelt and we can all be good friends after the election."

To which words, this columnist would like to say Amen and add that it's an even more wonderful country than most of us realize, because probably no other major nation in the world could weather a wartime election of such importance.

Great Britain has not had a national election for nine years. Brazil has not had one in over a dozen years. Canada and various other British dominions, where, according to political scientists, democracy flourishes even more luxuriantly than here, have had no national wartime elections.

On the other hand, Cuba, though a belligerent, has held a Presidential election. Perhaps the U. S. A. can take a little second-hand pride in the Cuban election, because the Cubans were going along with our example.

Anyway, it takes a strong democracy, a tolerant democracy, to withstand the brickbats, the name-calling, the savagery of what has been the most difficult campaign since the 1864 campaign between Lincoln and McClellan.

And now that it's over and we have demonstrated that we can do it, let's all get on with the war.

PETTICOAT POLITICS
Women sometimes have a lot to do with backstage politics. Witness Mrs. Clayton, wife of the suave, handsome Surplus War Property Administrator who, because of his anti-Roosevelt business associates in Texas, has been accused of being against FDR.

The other day, however, Will Clayton made a speech before the Women's Democratic Club on the subject, "Why I Am for the Re-election of Franklin Roosevelt." Behind that speech was a lot of feminine wire-pulling—chiefly by gracious Mrs. Clayton.

Mrs. Clayton is a lady of both force and charm. Frequently she differs with her husband. When he contributed $7,000 to the Liberty League against Roosevelt in 1936, she contributed $7,000 to help Roosevelt.

In this year's campaign, Mrs. Clayton wanted it definitely understood that her husband was for Roosevelt. She went, therefore, to Mrs. Will H. Davis, wife of the chairman of the War Labor Board and herself chairman of the program committee of the Women's Democratic Club, suggesting that Clayton speak before the club.

Mrs. Davis gladly agreed. Then Mrs. Clayton, to make doubly sure that her husband (Continued on Page Six)

DIET AND HEALTH

The Child Nail Biter

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
IT IS VERY flattering to have people ask you how to stop a child from biting his nails, as if you had the answers to such questions in your vest pocket and could cure Johnny, or Susie, of this habit when Father, Mother, Uncle Jim, Grandma and the neighbor lady had nearly driven themselves crazy for years trying by threats, tears, persuasion, appeals and everything that has ever been suggested to stop it. It seems a very little insignificant thing to hark the medical profession, but they are just about as helpless as anyone else in the presence of this habit.
In fact the only scientific inquiry into the subject known to me was made by a school teacher. He noticed early in his career when he was assigned to a grade school situated in the melting pot section of a large city that while in general the cleanliness of the hands of most of his pupils left something to be desired a few had beautiful clean fingertips. He soon found why. They were accustomed to put them in their mouths, either for sucking or nail biting purposes. Making a count of them he found that the number who did this was about 40 per cent of the class. The girls were slightly more numerous than the boys.

No Improvement
Being, as he says, as naive as the next person he first asked them politely to refrain from doing so. Needless to say this made no improvement at all. He had conversations with them. None of them knew why they did it. Most of them admitted it was a bad habit, and they all wished they could stop. But they didn't.

As years went on he got a new class every year, but in spite of the fact that the pupils changed, the habit was found to be present just the same in the same proportions of new pupils.
In short, it is a habit. And "a habit is not a trifle," according to Plato Montaigne said, habit is second nature, and the Duke of Wellington saw him and raised him and said, habit is ten times nature. Since the habit is ingrained in 40 per cent of children of primary school age the responsibility for stopping it rests on parents who can get it in its very infancy. It probably becomes established almost in the cradle. Psychiatrists may tell you that it is an imitation of the sucking reflex, but that doesn't help much. The fact remains it is a habit and must be broken up early if it is to be broken up at all.

Use of Quinine
An old well-established remedy was to put quinine, or something bitter on the ends of the fingers. The school teacher to whom I have referred got the consent of most of the parents to try this and he put a saturated aqueous solution of quinine on the ends of the fingers. The children were given this treatment until they had stopped biting the nails for one week. After this period had gone by most of the pupils had been conditioned to give up the habit. But if after the third day's application was made no improvement was noted, it was found best not to persist as continuation only made the habit more stable.
The teacher was afterwards advanced to a high school and continued his studies. He found that about 30 per cent of his pupils were active nail biters, and about 35 per cent reported that they had once been but gave it up. In the higher grades the percentage still further decreased, so it may be assumed that with the social pressures of adult life the habit does decline almost to the vanishing point. Most of the high school pupils said they did it only under excitement. An exciting movie would start them.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE
The fleeting glimpse I had of the cat reminded me of a very trivial thing I had forgotten up to then. "Why, yes," I said. "As a matter of fact there was something."
Alexia stopped yawning so suddenly her jaws snapped together and Maud's scorn changed to alert interest. I went on, "There was a kind of bump against the closed door to my patient's room."
"Bump!" exclaimed District Attorney Soper.
"Yes. Something in the hall struck against the door."
"Something? What?" cried the D. A. "What was it? Didn't you go to the door and open it and look?"
"Yes, I did open the door and I saw..."
I stopped again on the verge of saying I had seen Nicky coming from a room down the hall. But that was wrong. I had seen Nicky, but that was before something—whatever it was—had struck against the door, and struck so sharply it roused me and the cat.
No; that was wrong, too; the cat had already aroused, as if he heard someone in the hall. The bump against the door had come later. And when I had got to the door and opened it no one was in the hall.
The District Attorney said, "Well, who did you see? Who did you see?"
"I didn't see anyone. I don't know who it was. I saw nothing."
"But you..." began Soper explosively, and Nugent said, "All right, Miss Keate. We believe you." His eyes looked very narrow and green. He went on quickly, "You were in the library when you heard the sound of something falling. What did you do?"
"I ran upstairs," I told him of it again, briefly. And brought forward what seemed to be, up to then, a bit of new evidence, or at least a new fact. That was the matter of Craig's being found in the linen closet, unconscious and bleeding from a bruise on his temple.
"He says somebody was in the hall and struck him," I explained.
The District Attorney interrupted. "Who?"
"He said he doesn't know. But if someone did that it proves there was an intruder, a— a thief..."
"But he said he was in the hall when he was struck," said Soper, looking a little impressed with his own astuteness, and very pompous. "You say you found him in the linen room."
"I did. Or rather Miss Cable found him there first." Again I glanced to Drue; again no one questioned her. "Someone must have dragged him into the linen closet and left him there. A man, I mean."
"A woman could have done it," began Soper, and Nugent cut in rather quickly. "I'll question Craig Brent later." Soper frowned, tapped his stomach and began again briskly. "Now then, about Conrad Brent's business affairs..."
That did not take a very long time; everyone I think was convinced that Conrad's business affairs were in good order and in any case it would be an easy matter for them to find out through his bank-

Today's Horoscope
Learn to restrain your impetuous nature. You are quick-tempered and jump hastily to conclusions. Your judgment is good and usually right if you take time to give it due consideration. You are a jovial, fun-loving person, and are popular among your acquaintances. Your love is apt to be tempestuous. Your next year will be happy and successful if you watch expenditure, especially on pleasure, and guard against indifference or carelessness in business. The child born today will be very original and clever, but liable to arouse the hostility of authority through pride and arrogance. Super-abundant vitality is indicated.

STARS SAY—
For Tuesday, November 7
THIS DAY may be notable for a heightened incentive to forge ahead, at high tempo and with indomitable will, to reach desired goals, in which exceptional initiative, enterprise and determination are potent. However there is definite danger that such aggressive and strenuous methods may be defeated by an impulsive and tempestuous urge to excess and over reaching the mark. This critical situation may be aggravated by opposition from high places, or from conflicts in private as well as community or public associations. There may be temptation to win out by strife, turbulence or an overt abridgment of rules and regulations. For success and great promise keep calm, collected, reserved.
Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of exceptional promise and definite achievement in the direction of cherished objectives, but an excess of zeal, highly stimulated emotions, impulses and mentality, may prove dangerous and disastrous. Rigid antagonism or conflicts may arise from power sources, with a tendency to aggravate the "will to win" beyond reason and by employment of strenuous, passionate and reckless tactics. Forces and faculties may be keyed to genuine success, but demand moderation, sane judgment and a balanced conservation of impulses, emotions and energies. New ways and means with novelty, originality, and ingenuity should promote bold objectives.
A child born on this day should have much force, energy, audacity and ingenuity, but opposition, over enthusiasm and arrogance may prove its undoing.

BID OVER A REDOUBLE
DOES IT show some strength? Or does it show weakness? Your partner's bid after you have doubled and the intervening opponent redoubled may have either of those extremely different connotations, and it is important to know which your side is observing. Some contend that, the redouble having relieved you of any obligation to keep it open for your partner, you should pass unless you have a bit of strength. Others reason that you should disclose your suit length at once with a hand which is worthless in high cards. Plenty of misunderstandings come on this point.

Aid all passed. What a tragedy for North and South. An unbid small slam was made. West led his club Q to the K, the spade A was played on the 4, and the club 10 came back to the A. Followed the spade Q and 10 to the K, the diamond J not covered by the K, the spade J, the heart A, Q and then the K. As that heart was played, West was holding his K and two other diamonds and the club J. He was squeezed between the dummy's club 8 and the diamonds. He discarded a diamond. So the declarer finessed the Q, dropped the K with the A and scored the 10 for the final trick.

East got away with an almost foolhardy psychic redouble solely because he caused North and South to misunderstand each other. South, thought his bid over the redouble indicated some strength, and felt that if North could lift it to only 2-Spades, North had a pretty weak doubling hand. North, however, thought South's bid over the redouble showed weakness, so that he had to go gingerly and barely raise. If North had thought it showed strength, he would have jumped to 4-Spades. If South had thought North took it to indicate weakness, and could raise anyway, South would have jumped. But the slam would have been hard to reach, after the psychic. Notice what would have happened if the redouble of 1-Club had been left in by all concerned.

Mrs. Carl Leist Chosen Von Bora Society Head

40 Members At Election Held Monday

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Mrs. Carl Leist was elected president of the Von Bora society of Trinity Lutheran church Monday at the regular meeting in the parish house. Her staff officers will include Mrs. John Walters, vice president; Mrs. Alice Sensenbrenner, secretary; Mrs. Fred Brown, assistant secretary; Mrs. Fritz Sieverts, treasurer; Miss Mary Weffler, assistant treasurer; Mrs. William Fitzpatrick, pianist; Mrs. Gilbert Edgington, assistant pianist.

Forty members and guests were present for the affair. Mrs. Dudley J. Carpenter was in the chair and the missionary topic, "New Guinea Missions," was read and discussed by Mrs. Frank Turner. Mrs. James Carpenter conducted the devotional service.

The society voted to assist two families through the Special Needs department of the Women's Missionary Federation.

Von Bora society will have a Christmas party December 4 at which time each member may bring one guest.

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter conducted an historical contest. Members of the group passed part of the social hour in counting sales tax stamps.

An excellent lunch was served by Mrs. Clarence Wolf and her committee.

Monday Club

Dr. F. A. Carlson, of the geography department, Ohio State university was guest speaker Monday at the regular meeting of the Monday club in the Library Trustees' room, Memorial hall. Dr. Carlson, a teacher of the geography of the countries South of us, gave an instructive and interesting talk on "Latin America's Role in the World Scene."

He mentioned Latin America as "big and complex, being larger than Russia, and two and one-half times the size of the United States," and said that although the population is less than in our country, the population growth is increasing more rapidly in these countries than in the United States. He stated also: "Our Southern neighbors are young in world experience. Somewhat easily influenced, these countries are often a prey to unscrupulous transactions, a paradise for political, economic and social irrationalists. Consequently, all is not well in Latin America."

He contrasted the various cities with the large cities of the United States; discussed the geographical position of individual countries; the social economic problem of Puerto Rico; Latin America economy in world affairs; the negro population in regard to the post war period; the different sets of values regarded as fundamental by the different countries; recommendation of national improvements; outlined the place Latin America might occupy internationally in the post war period and told of the chance that Latin America might commercially become a field of intense competition among the maritime nations. Culturally, Latin America will continue to add to the world's finest in music and in art. Dr. Carlson closed with the thought that these countries are not to be considered as subordinates, but as collaborators in world affairs.

Mrs. Lemuel Weldon was in charge of the brief business hour that followed the talk. Reports of the fine district meeting at Jackson, October 24, were given by Mrs. Charles T. Gilmore and Mrs. John W. Eshelman. The program was arranged by Mrs. Ray Davis, president of the district, and stressed the importance of women and their work in the world of today, and especially urged that the drive for salvage be continued and enlarged until the supply equals that which has been taken away by Japan.

Mrs. Marion's Class
About 30 members and visitors attended the social session of Mrs. Marion's Sunday school class Monday at the home of Mrs. Bert Shimp, 443 North Court street. Election of officers for the coming year resulted in Mrs. Walter F. Heine being named for the head of the staff that included Mrs. Herschel Hill, vice president; Mrs. Dan McClain, secretary, and Mrs. Boyce Parks, treasurer. Mrs.

KYSER VISITS MARINES

The Ole Professor, Kay Kyser, has the situation well in hand when he takes his "College of Musical Knowledge" gang to the Marine Base at Camp Pendleton (San Diego, Calif.) on Wednesday. Georgia Carroll, Ish Kabibble and Sully Mason are the featured singers.

FOUR GUESTS DATED

Herbert Marshall, Judy Canova, Jerry Colonna, and Beulah (of the Fibber McGee and Molly show)—"or their reasonable facsimiles"—headline the guest list for "Which Is Which" on Wednesday. Ken Murray is the genial master of ceremonies who asks contestants whether the performers concealed from view, are the real stars or clever voice doubles. Winners get cash prizes. Richard Himber directs the orchestra.

STARS RETURN

Soprano Jean Tennyson and Maestro George Sebastian return to "Great Moments in Music," to present gems from Fritz Kreisler's "The Firefly." Wednesday, Joining Miss Tennyson will be Tenor William Hain and Baritone Robert Weede.

"GOT ANY GUM, CHUM?"

"Got Any Gum, Chum?" an original composition written by PFC Murray Kane, a former Pennsylvanian, will be introduced by "Honey and the Bees" on Fred Waring's Thursday night program. A popular cry to Yank soldiers in Europe is "Got Any Gum, Chum?" PFC Murray Kane, who was featured with Waring's "Honey and the Bees" took up the call and turned it into a tune. He is now overseas as a member of Glenn Miller's G. I. band. Daisy Brenner, "the Honey" with the "Bees," is PFC Kane's wife. Another feature of the half-hour airshow will be Waring's special number written for the United States Marines, celebrating their 151st anniversary, titled, "The Flying Marines." The orchestra and Glee Club will also honor the occasion with their rendition of, "The Marine Hymn." Seaman First Class Walter Scheff, a former Pennsylvanian now on leave, will pay a visit to the program and sing the spiritual, "Old Moses Put Pharaoh In His Place."

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Ed "Archie" Gardner, Lina Romay, and Lou Silvers and his orchestra are the latest entertainers to be added to the all-star Thanksgiving Show, Thursday, November 23. The two-hour holiday show will originate in Hollywood and will be shortwaved to American and Allied fighting men all over the world. The parade of stars will be emceed by Don Ameche and include the following: Spike Jones and his City Slickers, Alan Reed, better known as "Falstaff" Openshaw, Elsie Janis, Frances Langford, and announcer Ken Carpenter. Freling Foster, popular magazine columnist and author of the unusual Sunday night program "Keep Up With the World," will present a little known story on the celebration of Thanksgiving.

Newest trend in radio finds comedians and singers going heavily dramatic and, surprisingly enough, with successful results. Bob Hope triumphed on a recent "Cavalcade of America" broadcast; Dinah Shore gave a spine-tingling account of her overseas experiences on "March of Time," and now Lena Horne, who has never done a straight dramatic role in all her career, is booked for just such a part in "You Were Wonderful," a thriller on the "Suspense" program Thursday. She won't sing a note.

Charita Bauer will chalk up her 2000th broadcast when she appears on "Grand Central Station,"

British Flyer Tells How Allies Pound Huns From Air

KIWANIAN GET DESCRIPTION OF INVASION SCENE

"Absolutely Colossal" Says Wing Commander Who Praises Yanks

Wing Commander Peter James Simpson of the Royal Air Force gave Kiwanians some interesting information on the war in Europe at the regular meeting Monday night in Hanley's restaurant.

The big Englishman, who has won the DFC and DSO decorations during five years of fighting Germans as a Spitfire pilot told of his participation in the Battle of Britain, bombing of Europe, D-Day and other fighting. His rank is equivalent to that of lieutenant colonel in the United States air force. He was in charge of four squadrons of 18 planes each.

He described as "absolutely colossal" the sight of 1,000 planes taking off for a bombing raid. He told of the escort work done by British Spitfires and American fighter planes. He described the "lovely" 12,000 bombs dropped by British planes and stated they made "a terrible mess" when they fell on their target.

Turning Point

Commander Simpson said he believed the turning point of the war was the battle of Dieppe. He said there the Allies learned the importance of absolute coordination of all units to stage a successful invasion.

His wing was the first to sight German planes on D-Day, he said. A few seconds after his pilots had sighted six planes four of them were crashing to the earth and the other two fled. He stated he believed the Germans had saved their planes for the defense of Germany and had not risked losing them over France.

He praised the work being done by the American pilots of B-17's and B-24's in Europe but had more praise for the ground crews who keep the planes in the air. He said they worked 24 hours a day and really did a remarkable job.

Damage By Bombs

The robot bombs did a lot of damage to England, he said, stating more than a million homes were destroyed. Of the 8,000 robots launched 2,300 got through to the London area, he said.

Asked about the end of the war Commander Simpson said he believed it would last much longer than many believed. He said the Allies were fighting fanatics who would resist until completely whipped. "And if we settle for anything besides unconditional surrender we will be fighting another war in 25 or 30 years," he declared.

The speaker was introduced by Dwight Steele, program chairman. Guests at the meeting were Otto Groene, Mt. Sterling, R. C. McAllister, George Foreman, Ross Henry, and Judd Lanman.

President Luther Bower announced the directors had voted to give $40 to the Community War Chest. He also announced a Christmas party for the children of the county home would be held in December. Carl Johnson is chairman of the dance committee. Other members are Roscoe Warren, Hal Dean and Robert McCarty.
